ADVENTURE & CULTURE 14 days / 13 nights

Lima, Nasca, Chalhuanca, Cusco, Machu Picchu, Puno

Our program PERU: ADVENTURE & CULTURE is a combination of strong emotions on non-traditional routes and the practice of non-common sporting activities. The physical effort demanded is widely compensated by the beauty of the landscape, the flora and fauna of the coast and the Andes, and the visit to places that were inhabited by great Andean civilizations.

Day 03 Nasca / San Fernando / Nasca B BL

Breakfast in hotel. With an adequate 4x4 vehicle go across the arid desert to make the first stop to see Ocongalla's pre-Incan aqueduct. Continue travelling to reach the pre-Incan Sanctuary-City of Cahuachi. Then, head to the dunes at Usaca where travellers will practice sandboarding. After that continue travelling until reaching the Pacific Ocean, and arriving at the paradisiacal destination of Punta San Fernando. The many difficulties the entrance and exit roads present allow the abundant and varied fauna to inhabit the cliffs and beaches being fearless to human presence. The Condor, which comes from the Andes, flies so low that one can almost touch it with one's hands. There are also hundreds of sea lions and Humboldt penguins in the cliffs and beaches watching the visitors with no fear whatsoever. Thousands of birds of the most varied species fly along the coast diving in the water to capture their prey. Box lunch included. In the afternoon, return to Nasca. (Closed 4x4 transportation or open buggy, private, professional driver and Spanish/English guide). Dinner free. Overnight.

INCA TRAIL

The Inca Trail has to be booked with at least 6 months before. For that, it is important to have the passport number, complete names and birth date of the passengers. Once the tickets have been bought there is no reimbursement if the reservation is cancelled or the personal data changes. In case there is no available space for the Inca Trail, a visit to Machu Picchu will be scheduled, but in a conventional train.
